

Women in Innovation & Entrepreneurship

Invitation to Participate

WIE is seeking women faculty participants to join this unique program that will provide insight into the WUSTL invention and commercialization process through educational seminars, workshops, and networking opportunities with internal and external individuals involved in commercialization. Participants will meet investors and other faculty entrepreneurs as they share their commercialization experiences. We hope that participants can make all 4 events, but appreciate faculty schedule conflicts and can work with you. Enrollment is limited.
